INTRODUCTION

- [1] The Firearms Act 1967 has been repealed. During its 55 years of existence, it has proven to be one of the more influential pieces of legislation especially with the growth of the use of firearms in the commission of a myriad of criminal offences e.g murder and the facilitation of the commission of applicable offences by a criminal organisation.
- [2] The Firearms Act 1967 has been replaced by the The Firearms (Prohibition, Restriction and Regulation) Act, 2022 (hereafter the FPRRA).
- [3] The FPRRA 2022 became effective on the 1st day of November, 2022. Meaning all firearms offences committed on the 1st day of November, 2022 and thereafter will be charged and prosecuted under this Act. As per the Appointed Day Notice ss 889, 89 and 103(6) have not yet been brought into effect.
- [4] However, Crown Counsel, we are not finished with the Firearms Act 1967. All criminal offences charged up to October 31,2022 are still prosecutable under that legislation though it has been repealed. We are able to do this as per the provisions of section 25(2) of the Interpretation Act. This means that when Crown Counsel appears in the High Court Division of the Gun Court they must be armed with both pieces of legislation.
- [5] Importantly, the Seventh (7th) schedule of the Act makes consequential amendments to other pieces of legislation. These must also be consulted as there are amended provisions that affect sentencing (Criminal Justice Administration Act and Parole Act), Plea Negotiations (Plea Negotiations and Agreements Act), Extradition offences (Extradition Act), the definition of firearm, firearm offence and imitation firearm (Gun Court Act and Larceny Act). Repealed the firearms provisions in the Town and Communities Act and extended the provisions of the FPRRA to the Proceeds of Crime Act (POCA).

- [6] The 7th Schedule of the FPRRA has also amended the penalties by increasing them in the following legislation :- The Explosives (Control of Manufacture) Act, The Forgery Act, The Gunpowder and Explosives Act, The Offences Against the Person Act, the Pawnbrokers Act and the Public Order Act.
- [7] The FPRRA is divided into ten (10) parts and 7 schedules.
- [8] The Purpose of this document is to give prosecutors and police officers a one stop quick guide to the wording of the new offences (which tries as much as possible to cleave closely to the statutory provisions) and the penalties.
